With the advantage of being mainly flat, there’s some great walks to try across the area.

Beccles Marsh Trails
If you’ve never experienced a nature reserve within a major town before, you won’t be disappointed in either of the two nature reserves in the town of Beccles. Beccles Marshes and Beccles Marsh Trails offer some fantastic walks to try across the area.

Southwold & Walberswick
As far as Lenwade, the path largely runs adjacent to a railway, on the other side of which you can look forward to a walk to Burgh Castle by bus (approx every hour), and explore the ruins.

North Wingfield
Another great walk is to travel to Bungay with the village of Earsham, with some great trails that provide an easy 5.5 mile circular walk linking Bungay with the village of Earsham, with some great walks to try across the area.

Bath Hills Walk
These lovely hills are steeped in history and provide a peaceful setting for a walk. Bungay with the village of Earsham, with some great views over the watermeadows of the Waveney Valley.

Bungay to Beccles
Part of the 53-mile long Angles Way, this is a very suitable route for those who are not confident walkers. It travels along the A12, and is entirely bus-friendly.

Bure Valley Path
Linking Blowick with the Norfolk Breckish market town of Attleborough, this path invites you to explore the beauty of the area.

Breydon Water
Take a walk to enjoy spectacular views of the Broads National Park.

Bath Hills Walk
Another great walk is to travel to Bungay with the village of Earsham, with some great walks to try across the area.

Bath Hills Walk
These lovely hills are steeped in history and provide a peaceful setting for a walk. Bungay with the village of Earsham, with some great views over the watermeadows of the Waveney Valley.

Bungay to Beccles
Part of the 53-mile long Angles Way, this is a very suitable route for those who are not confident walkers. It travels along the A12, and is entirely bus-friendly.

Bure Valley Path
Linking Blowick with the Norfolk Breckish market town of Attleborough, this path invites you to explore the beauty of the area.

Breydon Water
Take a walk to enjoy spectacular views of the Broads National Park.